

'Century of Radical Right Extremism: New Approaches' Conference (15th-17th May 2019)

Inaugural Conference Call for Papers

Centre for
Analysis of the
Radical Right

RICHMOND
THE AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL
UNIVERSITY
IN LONDON

The Centre for the Analysis of the Radical Right, in partnership with Richmond, the American University in London, is hosting its inaugural conference next May in Richmond, London – looking at a Century of Radical Right Extremism since the formation of Mussolini's Fasci Italiani di Combattimento. The keynote will be given by world-renowned investigative journalist and former Director at SPLC's Intelligence Project, Mark Potok. The conference will examine both historical and contemporary forms of radical right extremism, as well as incorporating practitioner perspectives on this pressing global political issue. Special strands will also be incorporated for Early Career Researchers, including workshops on engaging with the media and publishing, in addition to practice-based roundtable discussions. Multiple panels will also specifically feature ECR researchers and themes, including professional development.

CARR invites all experts in radical right extremism, fascism and the far-right to submit 200-300 word abstracts that address the below themes for next May's conference:

Fascist Ideology

Fascist/Nazi/far right visual culture, linking past to present

Axis 'new order Europe'

Definitions, historiography, and theoretical approaches to Fascism and the Far Right

Radical Right Ideologues

Radical Right Political Parties

Radical Right Social Movements

Radical Right Terrorism, Political Violence and Hate Crime

Religion and the Radical Right

Radical Right Outside of Europe and North America

Quantitative and Qualitative methods for understanding the radical right

Archives of the Radical Right

- We also welcome other papers on cognate subjects

Abstracts for papers must be submitted to socialmedia@radicalrightanalysis.com no later than 15 December 2018.

Conference Fees for each delegate will be £160 / €160 / $210 per person.

This includes registration, two lunches, conference dinner and tea/coffee.

Fees for Early Career Researchers and those on non-fixed incomes are £125 / €125 / $150.

Onsite accommodation is available: £70 / €70 / $90 for 2 nights (including breakfast).

Centre for
Analysis of the
Radical Right

<https://www.radicalrightanalysis.com/>